

Interview Scene

**copy and paste questions into your own document, include your name/class/block

(Come up with an interview scene where you are both playing characters that are not yourselves. You will have an opportunity to be both the interviewer and the interviewee.

**For the script you write you are the interviewee!

Tips:

- The interviewer can be as interesting as the interviewee
- Don't waste time with boring/general questions, start from a specific viewpoint or have an interesting newsworthy item to discuss

boring/general: Who are you?

Interesting: I'm here with Doctor Flugenhammer and he is going to discuss his amazing age reversing formula creating from rotting banana peel extract!

SCRIPT/QUESTIONS - (minimum 10 Questions and Answers) (10 points)

Good evening gentlemen and ladies, I am here to interview Professor Tvirus who has been researching about zombies for a long time. Hello Professor! Thank you for coming tonight.

Hello, I'm honored to be in a place like this.

Well, I will go straight into the interview. First, can you explain what zombie is?

Zombies are creatures that have no soul. Which means that they have body and every organs, but do not have a brain that can think and cause to have any desires but hunger.

Wow... that is frightening. It is really scary how such a thing can really exist in many fiction books. Or, do they really exist?

Well, I'd like to say no for such a horrible thing. But I am afraid that humans are really trying to make such a weapon for money.

That is scary... Any example you can talk about for better understandings?

I wonder if you know about the movies, "Resident Evil," and "The Crazies." Those movies are zombie movies that are made for just entertainment, however, I am afraid that the same thing might be happening and same disaster might occur.

I that were to really happen, what would be the best thing you can do?

If everyone around you turns into those things, I would suggest you to leave the place right away leaving everything behind. Try to move alone or in group of two that you can trust. Take any weapon with you, try to find a car that is a truck or strong enough to endure as much as attacks. Oh. Most importantly, take a radio and food. You will need it to survive.

I see... That will be like living in hell... Is there any book that you can talk about for this topic?

Well... There is a book named "Island." The book itself is very short but has strong ideas about zombies. In the book, the area the main character lives in suddenly turns into a hell where no humans but only zombies exist. He tries to survive by disguising as a zombie with zombie skin and take the food from stores that are close to his house. As the story goes on, he finds other more survivors but ends up with tragic events. At the end of the book, he ends up blowing himself and zombies with hopeful message to other people.

That is truly scary and sad... I just think this infection part about zombies is the scariest. How can such thing exist? Can the disease be really transmitted by just biting?

Zombies are creatures that are infected by either some gas or water. If that happens, both the zombie's blood and saliva will contain virus. Therefore when the zombie's blood or saliva goes into one's body, that can cause an infection.

Wow, that truly makes sense. I wonder if there is anything like that in the present time. I sure hope not though. Well, that was it for today, I thank you for coming out tonight. Thank you.
